Dear Laura,

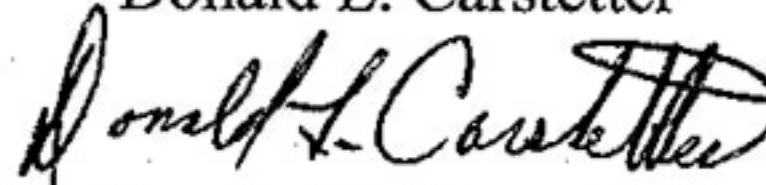

I wrote this endorsement of you, concerning lawyers in today's society. If you can utilize this for a client-reference, please do; you are one of the finest of your profession and I have a discerning-eye for legal representation. This is what I penned of you:

Five years ago, a lawyer from Mid-Penn navigated a favorable judgment for my family. This lady, in 2008, was a lawyer-extraordinaire. A lady of her professional caliber, was, and is, sterling in her profession. She was the embodiment of a female "Matlock". She was very easy to speak with, encouraged her clients, tenacious in her pursuit of endeavor to the case, and extremely astute and learned of the law.

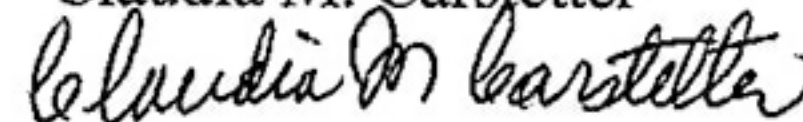

If Pennsylvania had just a small legion of barristers of her proficiency and integrity- the legal profession would be categorically, beyond reproach. You are not only a very fine lawyer but you are a dear human-being. We believe this attestment of you should be known in America's public square.

With warm and personal regards,
